THE CHILD'S FUTURE

It seems hardly necessary in this day of general acceptance of the advantages of insurance to urge upon prospects the advisability of buying for their children.

Babies are being born every day, by the hundreds, providing a never-ending market, every one whom may become, someday, if contacts are retained, a future friend and prospect.

The thinking on the subject of juvenile insurance has changed greatly in recent years, so that the $500 certificate which was once suggested, usually as an afterthought, is as much out of date as yesterday's churn.

The thinking of America has changed during the past twenty or thirty years on many subjects. In the matter of education, there is a new viewpoint. It is more and more a necessity for the child to have college training to succeed in life.

Statistics reveal that more plans are being purchased on the lives of

LIFE INSURANCE—A FUNDAMENTAL INSTITUTION OF DEMOCRACY

From an Address by Alex. O. Benz Before the Nat. Dist. of Columbia Fraternal Congress

Life insurance offers a stable foundation on which a program can be based. The chief assets of the American people, he said, are their health and their ability to earn a livelihood. Life insurance, he continued, is a financial safety zone...

Life insurance is a protection against the impact on business of our country, which generally follows the war-time stimulants to industry and trade. It constitutes cash reserves and solvency when we need them.
